New York, Nov. 21.—The ginners' figures to-day were 7,311,690 bales, against 8,552,000 last year, when the crop was over 13,596,000, and on this account it is difficult to see anything bullish in them, as some interests contend. The fact that trade conditions everywhere are depressed is overlooked, consequently a crop of 1,390,900 bales less than the last will be by no means inadequate for the coming senson. The buying to-day was of a professional character. A more friendly feeling seems to be entertained just now, mainly by people long on the market or who are impressed by a reported short interest of some magnitude. Treasury Sends Out Shortterm Certificates.

MAY AGGREGATE $50,000,000

Secretary Cortelyou Declines to State Exact Amount, but It Is Known that Applications Have Been Numerous - Highly Pleased with the Financial Situation,

The feeling in the Treasury Department vesterday in regard to the financial sitwere many expressions of confidence that the most acute stage had already been eached and is being passed. This feeling was induced, no doubt, by the fact that some of the new 3 per cent short-term certificates of indebtedness which are almost of as much of the nature of currency as of bonds, have actually been issued by the Secretary of the Treasury under date of November 29. Considerable shipments of the certificates were made yesterday, but just what the amount, or to what individuals or cities, Secretary Cortelyou declined to disclose

The demand for certificates of indebtedness has been very brisk, and the Treasury authorities are highly pleased with the character of the applications received and the nature of the inquiries that have been directed to the department. It is believed that the applications already foot up for December at 9s 49d. London cables the up to something like $30,000,000, exclusive of the $25,000,000 which are expected to be taken by the New York syndicate, but what proportion of this amount has been

The currency act passed by Congress at the last session provides for a maximum of retirement of $3,900,000 of bank currency in each month, but there is a paragraph in the law which specifically excepts from the application of this excepts from the application of this limit such currency as is proposed to be issued on the short-term certificates of indebtedness now being floated by the Secretary of the Treasury.

Bankers are assured that when the depression has passed, and the need for a arge" volume of currency is no longer felt, there will be no serious obstacle to the retirement of bank currency in iny appropriate amount.

The new 3 per cent certificate of indebtedness is in appearance not unlike an ordinary bank note. It is of the ame size, and is printed on distinctive paper. The certificate bears on the left-hand side of its face a portrait of Alexider Hamilton, and the words tifles that the United States of Amera will pay to the bearer Fifty Dollars Gold one year from date, appear cominently on the obverse side.

The wholesale market yesterday was adversely affected by the weather. Rain during the night affected shipments into the city to some extent. Demand was power than usuall at the middle of the week, and prices were unsteady during most of the day. Receipts were quite equal to the light demand, and the murky conditions of the atmosphere had a bad effect upon the large supplies of medium grade poultry and dressed meats. Prices were only barely steady in these lines. Eggs, butter, and choses were about the only kinds of provisions that held at top figures. Commission merchants look for rather a dult market for the rest of the week.
